Nestled among Newport's Gilded Age manors is this 19th-century wonder, a former mansion converted into 20 elegantly furnished hotel rooms. Each is unique and evokes a particular historical period or decorative theme. The Williamsburg Room's style is post-Revolutionary America, with floral prints of red, white and blue, while the Nantucket Ocean Villa's harbor scenes and nautical design evoke the early 19th century on the island. Romance abounds at the hotel's restaurant, Cara, as well as at the fire pits on the expansive seaside lawn where you can wind down as the sun sets with a tippie in hand.

Mood? Ocean views for miles.

Budget range? Mid-range to higher-end.
