STAY >> There's an abundance of hotels to choose from in Newport, R.I., but for a design-centric experience, there's nowhere better than The Vanderbilt, Auberge Resorts Collection, which was recently renovated by Swoon, the Studio. Inside, vintage pieces, colors and patterns flow throughout the harbor-facing, historic abode. Another historic hotel sits across town and directly on the bay. At The Chanler at Cliff Walk, guests can look forward to imbibing Italian wines at the Ca' del Bosco wine garden, where Adirondacks, tables and umbrellas are in abundance—not to mention the stunning Cliff Walk ocean views.

EAT >> A moody dining room and sunlit conservatory await inside The Vanderbilt, but it's a brand-new bespoke Gilded Age dinner party with James Beard-awarded Maison Premiere that takes the cake (available through this month). Starting in the Parlour for cocktail hour, guests are transported back to the 1920s with fun cocktails before heading up to the resort's mezzanine, where a sumptuous nine-course menu awaits. Nearby, tabletop games add to the social club aesthetic—making it an evening not to forget. If you're craving Italian, Giusto has you covered with a combination of tried-and-true favorites plus a new spring menu launch. Think prime beef carpaccio and scotch meatballs, and a rainbow of housemade pastas.

PLAY >> From The Breakers and Marble House to The Elms and more, opulence is sure to glisten during the Newport Mansions tours this summer. Year-round, self-guided tours tell guests the stories behind the homes, as well as the families who lived within them.
