The romance-meter is off the charts at three New England hotels, all perfect for couples seeking cozy getaways throughout the year, according to Time Out.

The publication released a list of the 13 most romantic hotels in the U.S. and included The Wauwinet on Nantucket, The Chanler at Cliff Walk in Newport, Rhode Island, and Twin Farms in Barnard, Vermont.

“Finding the right hotel is key to setting the stage for seduction,” wrote Time Out. “No need to wait for Valentine’s Day, the most romantic hotels in the US have everything you need to get in the mood for love any time of year.”

Time Out called The Wauwinet “the perfect adults-only island escape.”

“The two private beaches provide stellar ocean views or you can marvel at the charming 19th-century architecture of the building,” wrote the publication.

The Chanler at Cliff Walk is a “19th-century wonder,” wrote Time Out about the former mansion converted into a hotel.

“Romance abounds at the hotel’s restaurant, Cara, as well as at the fire pits on the expansive seaside lawn where you can wind down as the sun sets with a tippie in hand,” wrote the publication.

Twin Farms, set on more than 300 acres of woodlands and meadows, offers 20 suites and cottages with wood-burning fireplaces.

“Choose a vintage from Twin Farms’ 15,000-bottle wine cellar, then take a dip in the clothing-optional furo, a traditional Japanese soaking tub heated to 104 degrees,” wrote Time Out.
